INTRODUCTION

The course is designed to set you up with the skills, knowledge, and expertise needed to start teaching English as a foreign language and become truly professional in TESOL.

You do not need to be an English language expert: initial training will give you the teaching skills and language knowledge you need to enter the classroom or teach online.

You can help people from all over the world to learn English in order to achieve education or career ambitions, or because they want to speak a global language and participate in the global community.

AIMS & OBJECTIVES

The course has been designed to provide the underpinning knowledge and skills required to teach English as a second language. Participants will develop skills in English language usage, teaching and assessment, teaching skills, developing and evaluating teaching materials and will be able to reflect on their own performance and professional development.

Assessment is primarily in the form of evidence of teaching and classroom management skills through observed teaching practice, appropriate lesson planning and use of materials, and evidence of development through self-reflective writing.

The key objectives are:

- for the participants to identify factors that impact on and influence learning and language learning in particular
- for participants to demonstrate teaching skills and an awareness of good classroom practice
- for participants to demonstrate an ability to reflect on their experiences, thereby evidencing use of the experiential learning cycle.
